Today, I received a phone call from Mel Coonrod regarding fhs site. They last submitted an annual report in 1997. Mel has been contacted by a representative of the company and it was eluded to that they will hire his company to bring the reports, etc. up to date. Mel said he was last at the site in 1998, maps were done in September 1997 and he does not believe anything has been done at the site since that time. Therefore, the 1997 maps could very well show everything that is there at this time. Before he could verify that and put his signature on it, he said he would want to do another site visit.

He asked several questions about if we had to do partial inspections, complete inspections, quarterly report, etc. I told him that was the coal program requirements, not ours. He said he is no longer working with coal, but is doing oil, and gas, and hardrock.

I informed him that since he was bringing the annual reports current, he should know that the 5-year bond review would become due in June 2002. I told him a map would be requested in order for us to perform the review. He wanted to know at what scale and I told him at least 1" = 500' . He said there would be no problem.

Again he is assuming that he will get the job, so he will probably be talking with us again in the near future.
